

Site notification phone numbers for Healthsense service announcements

Healthsense will notify a site of important service announcements such as: scheduled or unscheduled interruption of service, change in system operation, or any relevant information relating to the operation of the Healthsense system. These notifications may be delivered by an automated voice broadcasting system or by other means as appropriate. It is critical that Healthsense has a current listing of the site contacts who should be informed of any important service announcements.

Instructions:

1. Complete the table below with site contact information of three (3) direct phones (no extension) to receive service announcements. At least one phone number must be for a telephone with a land-line connection (not SIP phone or cell phone)
2. Complete the information below the table
3. Return this completed form to Healthsense Customer Service by email as referenced below
